

STA

Would you like to be the director of the Intellectual Property Office?

0 | Feb 17 2016, 09:58

The Ministry of Economic Development and Technology has published a tender for the position of Director of the Slovenian Intellectual Property Office. Vojko Toman has been in charge of this since mid-September last year. Interested candidates can apply until March 3.

Profimedia

The photo is symbolic.

The government appointed Toman as acting director of the office until the appointment of the director, from September 21 last year to March 20 this year at the latest.

According to the tender published on the website of the Ministry of Public Administration, the new director will have to take care of, among other things, the planning, organization, coordination and supervision of work in the office and its development. A higher level of knowledge of English or German and French is desirable.

In addition to proof of education and fulfillment of the prescribed conditions, he will have to submit a vision of the priorities and development of the body during the five-year term of office, with the selected candidate having the opportunity to be reappointed.

intellectual property

office