Part III Statement of Program Service Accomplishments

Check if Schedule O contains a response or note to any line in this Part III

- 1 Briefly describe the organization's mission:
Conservancy promotes, improves, develops, facilitates & defends Free and Open Source Software (FOSS) projects & provides a non-profit home & infrastructure for FOSS projects. Conservancy directly handles many key tasks & urgent needs for its projects -- mostly created by volunteer software developers. Conservancy helps developers focus on improving FOSS for the public. Projects include: education software for schools, integrated library service systems, and embedded software for electronic devices.
- 2 Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ? Yes No
If "Yes," describe these new services on Schedule O
- 3 Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services? Yes No
If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O.
- 4 Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations are required to report the amount of grants and allocations to others, the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.

4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 1,003,944 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 1,896)
FOSS development, documentation, internships, mentoring, & project support: During the tax year, Conservancy engaged 14 different software developers as independent contractors to improve the software in its Bro, Godot, Outreachy, Samba, Selenium, Sugar Labs, phpMyAdmin. The code was released freely to the public under copyright licenses that encourage the general public to use, share, & modify it. These contractors also coordinated volunteer software developers to contribute further software code.
 In the tax year, Conservancy funded 123 interns as part of Outreachy, a program to encourage participation in FOSS from contributors who have been historically underrepresented in our community. Interns become directly involved with improving FOSS, and increase the diversity of the FOSS community while also learning valuable skills.
 Finally, Conservancy staff assisted volunteers in our projects on a daily basis with administration, coordination, legal and infrastructural assistance (as listed at <https://sfconservancy.org/members/services/>).

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 703,774 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 512,272)
Facilitating & Participating in FOSS conferences: During the tax year of 2017, Conservancy planned, organized and/or ran conferences for its Boost, Bro, Coreboot, Evergreen and Selenium projects. Additionally, Conservancy coordinated and funded a few smaller "hackfest" events, and also funded travel expenses for staff's and volunteers' attendance at over 50 different third-party software conferences. These events allow the volunteer software developers and Conservancy staff to speak about their work to the general public, teach the general public how to use and improve their software, and generally promote the use, adoption and improvement of Conservancy's member projects. Additionally, these conferences provide an opportunity for software developers to meet and rapidly work closely together to make improvements to the software, and release those improvements immediately to the general public.
 Finally, Conservancy added the "North Bay Python" conference as part of a fiscal sponsorship program specifically for FOSS events.

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 28,927 including grants of $) (Revenue $)
License Compliance Activity: Many of Conservancy's projects are available under "copyleft" licenses, such as the GNU General Public License (GPL). "Copyleft" licenses are copyright licenses which allow everyone to freely share, copy, modify, and install modified versions of the software. However, "copyleft" licenses additionally require that everyone who receives the software has an equal right to engage in those activities.
Conservancy identifies situations where distributors fail to meet those requirements. Conservancy then enforces the copyright license, thereby requiring these distributors to provide the same rights to copy, share, modify & install modified versions of the software to all those who receive the software distribution (just as those distributors had initially received those rights. Through this process, Conservancy ensures that the general public has equal rights to use, improve, & study the software, and to experiment with their own modifications to the software. Rarely, in particularly egregious cases of GPL violation, Conservancy does seek remedy in the courts through copyright litigation.
The primary goal of all these copyright enforcement activities is always to ensure that all who receive copies of the copylefted software (or modified versions thereof) can freely engage in copying, modifying, improving & installing modified versions.

FORM 990, PART VI, SECTION B, LINE 11(B) - Form 990 Review Process:

Before Conservancy staff file a 990, a final draft is submitted to the Board of Directors. The Directors review, discuss, and formally approve it at their next meeting. Effort is made to schedule the meeting before the filing deadline, but in cases where this is not logistically possible, the Board may direct the staff to file an amended return.

FORM 990, PART VI, SECTION B, LINES 12, 13, 14:

The Board of Directors formally adopted and consented to Conservancy's Conflict of Interest, Whistleblower, and Document

Retention policy on 16 March 2012. Conservancy's policy is to remind the Board annually that the Conflict of Interest policy is in effect and any written conflicts disclosures are collected annually by a Director. Volunteers who help

Conservancy select contractors for Conservancy are required to adhere to the Conflict of Interest policy, and those with potential conflicts are recused from the process.
